Catholic means “universal.” Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago is truly universal in the way we care for the poor of our community. Catholic Charities is not just for Catholics: we serve anyone in need. Here are more facts about us:

Who are we?
Helping people in need for more than 96 years, Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago is one of the largest private, not-for-profit social service agencies in the Midwest. We annually assist more than 1 million persons in Cook and Lake counties without regard to religious, ethnic or economic background.

What do we do?
Catholic Charities fulfills the Church’s role in the mission of charity with an emphasis on efficiency. 92 cents of every dollar donated to Catholic Charities goes to direct program services. We offer a comprehensive network of services that range from food pantries to mental health counseling, affordable housing, senior services, and everything in between.

Where are we?
We operate more than 150 programs from more than 160 locations throughout Cook and Lake counties. Along with our headquarters in downtown Chicago, we operate regional offices in Des Plaines, South Holland, Worth, Waukegan and Cicero.

Accessing Catholic Charities Lake County Services
Regional offices function as a liaison between Catholic Charities, its Regional Advisory Boards, and the community. Regional offices allow us to partner more closely with parishes, local social service agencies, schools and civic groups that share our mission of helping their neighbors in need.

Each regional office offers a standard menu of services, as well as unique programming specific to the needs of that region. The best way to start is to call the Lake County regional office directly, at (847) 782-4000. There are service sites across the Lake County region, which are described on the map on the back of this fact sheet.
